

ALLIE ROBERTSON'S WAREHOUSE BLOWN UP WITH DYNAMITE.

Loss Slight--Great Excitement Caused By Dastardly Deed--Large Crowd Attracted By Explosion.

As we were preparing to go to press at 6:30 o'clock last night, the citizens of the entire city were startled by a heavy explosion and hundreds of citizens ran out of their houses to ascertain the cause. At first it was thought to be a natural gas explosion, but upon investigation it was learned that the south-west corner of the warehouse occupied by Allie G. Robertson had been blown up with dynamite. A large hole was also blown in a C. & O. box car standing on the track nearby. The building did not take fire and the explosion injured it but slightly. Indignation is high and hundreds of excited citizens viewed the scene of this dastardly crime.

The warehouse is the property of Mrs. Lula M. Barnes and is occupied by Allie G. Robertson, an independent tobacco buyer. Some years ago, he moved to our city from Bethel, Bath county, where he had a barn burned by night-riders, and since his residence here has been engaged in the buying and selling of tobacco. He has made many friends here and a determined effort will be made to bring the guilty party or parties to justice.

MRS. M. E. CASSIDY.

One of our Most Prominent Women Dies at the Home of her daughter in Winchester.

Mrs. Martha Elizabeth Cassidy, wife of the late Judge M. M. Cassidy, who had been dangerously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. T. McElowney, of Winchester, answered the call of the death angel on Thursday morning, Jan. 5, 1911.

Mrs. Cassidy was in her 73rd year. She was born at Sharpsburg, Ky., May 21, 1838 and was a daughter of Andrew Boyd and wife. In 1859 she was married to M. M. Cassidy, of Fleming county, in 1863 they moved to this county, on the Paris Pike and in 1869 they purchased and moved to the present family residence on High street.

Mrs. Cassidy is survived by three daughters, Mrs. B. W. Trimble, of this city, Mrs. M. T. McElowney, of Winchester, and Mrs. M. G. Buckner, of Owensboro; two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Withers, of Sharpsburg, and Mrs. Bettie Roe, of Shelbyville.

It was while on a visit to her daughter in Winchester last July that Mrs. Cassidy's condition became serious and her physicians deemed it best for her not to be brought home. For over a year Mrs. Cassidy had been in failing health and like the Christian that she was, she bore her suffering without complaint.

In the years of her youth she professed her belief in the Savior and had always lived a life worthy of an example which others would do well to follow.

Thus another kind and affectionate sister, true and loving mother, has bid this world her last farewell and gone forth to meet her mate, who preceded her to the grave nearly six years ago.

In the loss of Mrs. Cassidy her family and friends have sustained an irreparable loss and have the sympathy of the entire community.

The remains were brought to this city, Thursday evening and the funeral services were held at the family residence, conducted by Rev. H. D. Clark, on Saturday afternoon, burial in Machpelah Cemetery.

Talk Sixteen.

If you are in such excellent health that you never realize that you have any vital organ, so thoroughly do they perform their functions, and you are not insured--well (will you pardon the candor?) you're a very foolish man!

This sounds a good deal like a paradox; but it isn't. For when a man is in such a condition is the very time for him to insure his life!

"In time of peace prepare for war" has been quoted threadbare; but it never was more applicable than it is right in this instance!

WHILE YOU ARE IN SUCH PERFECT HEALTH YOU ARE INSURABLE!

Isn't that something? Now don't toss your head and say that is all rubbish; that there's time enough for all that! Many a man has, when asked about his health, said, "I never felt so well in my life!" Died in a week! Lived fifty years, maybe! Can't tell. But it's a chance that it's far safer to let an insurance company take for you!

This is a thought for healthy, brawny men to have! They've the long end of possibility in their favor, of course! But you can't tell!

This matinee was secured especially for the benefit of the pupils of the various schools of Mt. Sterling. A plan has been perfected whereby all the pupils of the different schools will attend the matinee entertainment in a body.

The program for the matinee will be entirely different from the program to be rendered by the Concert Company at the evening performance. A small admission of 15 cents will be charged for pupils, 25 cents for others.

It is safe to say that those who take advantage of the matinee performance will return to hear the evening entertainment. The Concert Consists of four talented artist presenting the violinist, flute soloist, pianist and reader. For further information concerning the concert see separate notice in this issue.

JUDSON HARMON, OF OHIO, FOR PRESIDENT

A SOUND DECISION.

Some years ago the New York World opposed the purchase of the Panama Canal property and demanded a Congressional investigation. President Roosevelt denounced the articles as "a libel upon the United States Government" and following his ideas on New Nationalism, directed the institution of prosecutions by indictment in the Federal Court. The Supreme Court of the land has recently handed down a unanimous opinion, holding state rights to be inviolable and denying to the Federal Courts jurisdiction in cases like the one at bar where the laws of the several States are adequate.

It will therefore be seen that we are still living under a government of laws and that the Supreme Court continues to respect the Constitution and Bill of Rights, even though some of its members are deemed by this "great steward of public welfare" to be "fossilized of mind."

The decision is sound in law and is a vindication of the freedom of the American press.

CRIME INCREASING

Much speculation is being indulged in as to the real cause of the reported increase of crime last year in the United States. The consensus of opinion is that it is due, in the main, to the law's delay and its lax enforcement. The remedy for this unfortunate state of affairs rests not alone upon the officers of the law, but particularly upon the people themselves. We often hear men criticize the manner in which the law is enforced, who never fail to endeavor to shrink jury service. If every citizen, when summoned as a grand or petit juror, instead of hunting for an excuse to be relieved of it, would accept the responsibility and do his full duty, we are sure there would be a decided improvement shown in the good year 1911.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

Beginning Saturday, January 14, all of our leading merchants are going to offer their entire stock of goods at greatly reduced prices. This will, beyond a doubt, be the greatest opportunity ever offered to bargain-hunters in this section, and you can save at least 25 per cent. by trading in this city instead of going to Lexington or elsewhere. Note the difference in the prices made by our merchants and those in Lexington and you will see for yourself what our merchants are offering you. This opportunity to buy goods at greatly reduced prices, together with the tobacco meeting here Saturday, should bring an immense crowd to this city. The sale will last ten days. SAVING GRACE OF POVERTY

Lacking Riches, One at Least, Is Not Bowled Down With Life's Superfluities.

It is altogether a sad reflection that nine-tenths of the world is poor and the remaining tenth weighed down with superfluities. St. Francis prayed for the grace of poverty for himself and the brothers minor, and praised personified poverty as the lady of highest excellence—St. Francis knew. In the history of the world's history there have been a half-dozen ethical geniuses, and when they spoke of a thing as good, it was eternal truth they spoke.

In a word, where all is slight and temporal and transitory there is a certain refinement, a certain stoical adjustment of oneself to the tune of the universe in poverty. To be rich and not overloaded with tawdry things is almost an impossibility; but poverty leaves wide scope for austere choice of the rare and the beautiful.

There are tiny huts in out-of-the-way places, giving upon wonderful, extended views of distant hills and layer upon layer of azure cloudland, that furnish more beauty than Lam-beth palace and Versailles together. For the spiritual quality of human living somehow pervades and colors an entire locality. The choice of silence and loneliness and spirit-rest in the place of the vulgar dissipation of human noise bespeaks the spirit's strength.—Harper's Weekly.

REBUKE FOR SELFISH MAN

Remark of Spirited Little Woman to Animated Grouch Calls for Admiration.

A few nights ago a man with a woman in tow, and carrying two suit cases, blocked the way of a number of passengers who tried to board a trolley car as it stopped at a trolley station. In the special row of seats he had chosen to sit in (the first two rows, facing each other, at the front of the car), no one could enter until he had put first one and then the other suit case into the car, and helped the woman up afterward.

A poor sleepy little boy and his mother followed. The conductor collected the fares and the boy, who looked up almost no room as he snuggled up close to his mother, was thus spoken of by the suit case man:

"Only one fare paid and that child eight years old if he is a day." "He takes up much less room than your old suit cases," retorted a woman passenger, who was squeezed into a very small corner on account of the two suit cases occupying the rest of the seat. "Why don't you pay a fare for them?"—Brooklyn Eagle.

AEROPLANE INVENTION.

Truth is, never in all the history of science have such great things been accomplished on so little intellectual genius as has been the case with our science of flying. And for two obvious reasons. Flying was not so difficult of accomplishment as was supposed, was easy after the explosive engine was developed, though impossible before. The great intellect had already been expanded in the motor and electric sides of the matter. This is not saying the Wrights are not beyond compare in their sharp genius in mechanics and their marvelous bravery. But the science of flying is not ornamented by such intellectual giants as is electricity by Franklin, Faraday and Kelvin. Flying is really a composite of inventions.

FOOTGEAR FOR HORSES.

Japanese horses wear sandals of rice straw, bundles of which are attached to the saddle, to be renewed when necessary. The Iceland peasant shoes his pony with sheep's horn. In the upper Oxus valleys horseshoes are made of the antlers of the mountain deer fastened with horn pins. Horses in the Soudan go in their stocking feet—their socks are of camel skin.

SUMMER SHOPPING.

"I'm looking for something for about thirty-five cents," she said sweetly. "A souvenir," replied the clerk. "Here's a very pretty one for 50 cents." "Dear me, I don't want to pay that much. I want a gift for a very dear friend at home."

It is estimated that the gold coast and Ashanti could supply 60,843 logs of mahogany and cedar a year if the internal communication were better. FRIED LIVER AND SILENCE

Bright Idea That Gave Peace and Deserved Rest to Worried Officers of the Law.

Mary Schmidt was arrested in her home at 386 East One Hundred and Forty-fourth street a few days ago. When Detective Clark reached the Lincoln hospital with her he found that they had been followed by Sport, a black fox terrier, belonging to the woman. Dogs may not visit the hospital.

Clark couldn't shoo Sport out, so he tried booting him. Under these adverse circumstances Sport fastened to the detective's trousers leg. Four attendants of the institution threw a blanket over the dog and Mrs. Schmidt helped the board of strategy with a piece of fried liver that she had brought along in anticipation of an extended absence from home.

Sport was waiting patiently for them when they left the hospital for the Morrisania police station. He would not be sundered from his mistress, so they let him in the cell with her without the formality of entering him on the blotter.

During the night Sport rid himself of a few things that were on his mind while the 90 reserves who were trying to sleep upstairs got up and talked to their Maker about him. The doorman, who had heard of the blanketing at the hospital, tackled the dog with a quilt and put him in the yard.

But here Sport gave tongue to augmented grievance, and it was thought best to put him back with his mistress. Then an idea hit Clark squarely. He went out and, when he returned, went straight to the cell. Sport's discourse became a peace out of pain.

"Fried liver," observed Clark to the lieutenant on the desk.—New York Sun.

TWO GOOD REASONS.

"Why did you refuse him?"
"He was dissipated."
"Anything else?"
"Yes—his fortune was, too!"

AIR USED TO RING UP FARES.

Aviators are not the only persons who can take a fall out of the air.

Mr. McAdoo of Hudson tunnel fame, is going them one better. He is making the air work for him. A young inventor gave him the idea and he is following it up by having a compressed air device which registers the number of passengers using the "tubes" installed in the Hoboken terminal.

In the contrivance which Mr. McAdoo is using, a constant flow of compressed air is directed toward a disk equipped with an electric registering apparatus. A person passing through the current of air interrupts the pressure against the disk and this "rings up" the fare.

The device promises to prove practical.

FORCE OF HABIT.

Mysterious noises emanated from room 23 at midnight, and when the hotel staff rushed in they found a man under the bed.

"Ah, a burglar!" they shouted in unison.

But the man crawled from under the bed with a look of disgust.

"I'm not a burglar," he grunted, rubbing the sleep from his eyes. "I own an automobile. Dreaming I was out riding and she broke down, I crawled under to fix it. That's what I was doing under the bed."

NOT A DOUBT ABOUT THAT.

Sutton—I can't spare the money very well, but I'll lend it to you if you promise not to keep it too long.

EMPLOYEES' SERVICE CODE

Rules for Conduct of Servants as Prepared by New Orleans Hotel Management.

When the employees of the Monteleone hotel receive their next pay envelope they are going to find inclosed a new service code which the hotel will adopt.

The following extracts from it give an excellent idea of what will be expected of the employees in the future:

"The Hotel Monteleone is operated for the benefit and convenience of its guests.

"Without guests there could be no Hotel Monteleone.

"Never be pesty, pungent or fresh. The guest pays your salary as well as mine. He is your immediate benefactor.

"A man may wear a red necktie, a green vest and tan shoes and still be a gentleman."

"The stranger in cowhide boots, broad brim and rusty black hat may be president of a railroad or a senator from over the ridge.

"You cannot afford to be superior or sullen with any patron of this hotel. I said so."—New Orleans Picayune.

THE FAT MAN MOVED OVER

How a "Street-Car Hog" Was Induced to Make Room for Another Passenger.

A timely word softly spoken is more effective than outbursts of profane anger.

A fat man absorbed a whole seat on a car the other morning. There were several passengers standing in the aisle, but the fat man continued the monopoly. Perhaps his breakfast disagreed with him. Perhaps his wife had asked him for money. Anyway, there he sat.

Right beside this selfish fellow two young men were standing.

"I saw a good thing in Life the other day," said one, and his voice was loud and clear.

"Something especially good?" inquired the other.

"Yes. Picture of a big porker with his feet in a trough and underneath it this legend: 'I was born a hog—what's your excuse?' Seems to me it would be a good thing to have the picture printed on cards to hand around."

But by that time the fat man had moved over.

SOLDIER'S CLEVER QUIP.

Not long ago Chaplain John A. Ferry of the Tenth infantry at Fort Benjamin Harrison was entertaining a party of friends, says the Indianapolis Star. Among those present was Lieut. George B. Jones, medical reserve corps, who is one of the surgeons at the post hospital, and who is a recognized wit among the officers of the post. Chaplain Ferry owns a piano player. He had been entertaining his guests with the instrument and then he invited Lieutenant Jones to play it. Jones sat down before the instrument and handled it like an expert. "Well," said Chaplain Ferry, laughing, and turning to others of his guests, "I didn't know he was such an expert pianist. Watch him use his hands, will you?" "Oh, that's nothing," rejoined the surgeon, quickly, "I played with my toes when I was three months old."

A SAVING OF MONEY.

According to the Electric Railway Journal, one of the best investments which it is possible for a man to make is when he spends five cents for a street car ride of ordinary length, say three miles or so. The man who earns as little as 15 cents an hour for his labor, would, in walking to his work, consume at least ten cents' worth of time, instead of the five cents spent on the street car. In addition to this, the nickel surrendered to the street car company is an assurance to him against accident, while if he rides in an automobile, or even if he walks to his work, he would be obliged to pay all damages in case of accident. Furthermore, the time spent on the street car can be spent in reading.

HUNTERS SPEND MONEY.

It is said that $2,500,000 is spent annually on hunting in Ireland.

LET THE HUSBAND REFLECT

Man Was Created Before Woman and Is but a Rough Draft, Says Parisian.

A clever Parisian woman has retorted skillfully to the satirist who prepared a set of commandments for wives, one of which ran in this strain: "Now and then acknowledge gracefully that thy husband knows more about things than thou. After all, thou art not infallible." The woman replied with a set of commandments for husbands, one of which exhorts men as follows: "Woman has a right to have whims; it is the privilege of her sex. Never put her out. She might have hysterics, which would impair her health and cost thee money in doctor's bills." She prepared another, which said: "Remember, good man, that thy wife is thy superior in grace, beauty and refinement. Therefore always worship at her feet."

Accordingly this woman contends not for the equality of man and woman, but emphasizes the fact that she is superior to man. She has written another rule for man that says: "If, good man, thou desirest mountain air ask thy wife to come to the seaside; she immediately will propose a holiday in Switzerland." Her last rule says: "Man was created before woman as a preliminary sketch for the masterpiece. Remember, then, O husband, that thou art but a rough draft."

FEMINE NERVE.

A rare example of feminine nerve comes from England. Anxious to obtain unique photographs for sale in connection with a church, Miss Lydia Akiens, nineteen, climbed a steeplejack's ladder to the top of the spire of St. Mark's church, Leicester, which is more than 200 feet high. Having reached the top, Miss Akiens, camera in hand, coolly walked around the narrow, unprotected staging and snapped some fine views of the town. So awe-inspiring was the sight that many of the crowd below walked away, declaring they could watch her no longer. Finally the intrepid snapshotter caused tremendous excitement among the onlookers when she climbed another ladder and reached the weather vane, on which she rested for some minutes. Miss Akiens claims the championship as woman steeplejack of the world.

OLD-TIME DELICACIES.

It is well to remember that many plants which once were used as vegetables have been allowed to drop out of our bills of fare. Our forefathers, for instance, sometimes dined off elder top and burdock root, and the early shoots of the hop were considered a great delicacy and were cooked and eaten as asparagus.

Walter Jerrold, in his "Highways and Byways in Kent," recalls a time when Kentish children could "tell of many pleasant hours spent among the hedges in search of the wild hop and of the wholesome suppers made upon the well earned treasure ere they learned to think their food the better for being rare and costly."—London Chronicle.

FIRE-WALKERS IN TAHITI

Performance Hard to Explain, But of Its Genuineness There Can Be Little Doubt.

An interesting feature of the celebration of the French national holiday in Tahiti was a fire-walking performance, given by several of the natives of Raiatea, an island a hundred and forty miles away. These people were darker than the olive-hued Tahitians, and their general appearance suggested that they were not of pure Polynesian blood.

A square pit, sixteen by twelve feet, had previously been dug, and for two days a fire had been burning in it. The bottom of the pit was covered with logs, and stones were piled over these, more fuel was added, and the whole lighted. The first fire-walker carried in his hand what looked like a wand of green. Approaching the pit he began muttering a prayer, or incantation; then, unwinding from about the wand a wither, it fell apart as a bunch of ti, or dracaena leaves. With these he struck the edge of the pit, walked barefooted slowly across the stones, holding the ti branch upright before him. After repeating the muttering and the blow with the leaves each time, he walked back and forth a number of times. He was later joined by another man, and then by a woman, who went through the same performance.

Some of the skeptical young Americans sprang into the pit, but they had to confess that the stones felt very hot through the soles of their shoes; and leaves later thrown in, took fire.—From Sophia Bledsoe Herriek's "A Summer Festival in Tahiti," in Century.

VERY BRILLIANT.

PRIVATE CHARITY A FAILURE.

Private charity in the great cities of this country is a failure, in the opinion of Robert W. Hebbard, secretary of the state board of charities. In an address delivered at New York before the committee on congestion of population, he said in part: "It is evident that the present methods of charitable societies are not improving permanently the sufferers from congestion, or establishing better standards of living, because they are not dealing effectively with the conditions that make their work necessary. The policy of giving inadequate relief by private charities tends to keep people in congested districts."—Springfield Republican.

SUNDAY IN MEXICAN CITY.

Up to the present summer the business houses in Mazatlan, Mex., have kept open from 8 till 12 every Sunday, their employees being allowed only a one-half holiday in the whole week. Acting under the influence of the chamber of commerce, however, all places of business are to be closed hereafter during the whole of Sunday, except that for a steamer leaving on Sunday an employe may remain at the office of the company until the vessel has been dispatched. Other than this no work is to be done.

HOME LIFE OF THE ESKIMOS

They Are Without Education or Religion, But a Fairly Well-Developed Lot.

"Eskimos do not have even rudimentary education," said Dr. P. D. Hanbury of London, England, who has just returned from a trip through the uninhabited regions of the Arctic. "As to religion," continued Doctor Hanbury, "the Eskimos, though very superstitious, have none. They do not believe in a Supreme Being."

"These people are obliging, and will do any moral thing for a white man. They are very peaceably inclined, and temper is almost unknown. As to their domestic life, you might say that of morals they have none. Still, the universal interchange of wives occasions no broils and bigamous wives in the same family are like sisters. The virtue of the Eskimos consists in fondness for children."

"The settlements continue year after year at one location. About the middle of October the snow huts are built, and the walls fall early in May. The rest of the year the colony lives in tents made of skins. The northern Eskimos have absolutely none of the conveniences of civilization. The weapons they use in the hunt are tipped with bone or, more usually, with native copper, which they work quite skillfully. Bows and arrows and sealing spears, with hide canoes, constitute the outfit. Vegetables are unknown in those latitudes and they subsist wholly on flesh and fish."

DRIVES A MINIATURE AUTO

Boston Man Has Had One Built to Correspond With His Diminutive Body.

The honor of having the smallest automobile about Boston except the kind seen in toy stores and jewelry shops, belongs to Howard A. Knowles, a man of small stature living in Somerville, who has just purchased a machine which his friends all agree to be the most suited to Lilliput of any machine going, says the Boston Post.

Mr. Knowles had for a long time been eager to be the owner of a motor car, and felt that he would be a success as a chauffeur, but on account of his extremely diminutive size he found it impossible to obtain a satisfactory machine. In every case his legs were too short to reach the brakes.

Unwilling, however, to be balked by such a paltry drawback, Mr. Knowles decided that it would be feasible to have a car made, in pattern precisely identical with the fastest roadsters, and equipped with all the appurtenances of the gentleman's runabout.

The little buzz-wagon is the cutest ever. It has a beautiful red body, red hood and red chassis, a wee steering column, regulation searchlights in miniature, and a horn that makes a full-sized noise.

A SOUTHERN PORTIA.

Mrs. W. H. Felton, an old lady of seventy-five years, played the part of a Portia recently in Atlanta, where she pleaded her case before the railroad commissioners, asking that a switch that had been removed be replaced. Fifteen corporation lawyers argued or handed in briefs against her in the interest of the Louisville & Nashville road. She cross-examined the attorneys and astonished all who heard her in the knowledge of the law she exhibited.

HAS SEEN MANY CHANGES.

Among the old ladies of England is Lady Buxton of Cromer, the mother of Sir Thomas Fowler Buxton, who was right in the middle of the agitation which led to the abolition of slavery under the union jack. She is an English paper. She was a niece of the celebrated Elizabeth Fry and was married in the reign of William IV. She has lived to see her oldest son over seventy.

USED TO IT.

After the usual greeting by Mephisto, the couple are ushered to their apartment in Hades.

"I can't see," grumbled the husband, "that this place is any cooler than anywhere else we ever spent the summer." "Well," argues his wife. "I suppose you would rather poke off to some mudhole somewhere where there is no society at all."—Life.

About Beans.

The bean that we eat in some form nearly every day, that almost everybody likes, is comparatively new as an edible. Our common, everyday bean is a native of South America and was introduced into Europe, whence it came to this country, during the sixteenth century, and now is represented by more than 150 cultivated varieties. The big, broad bean is the bean of history and its origin is so remote that it is doubtful. It is probably a native of southwestern Asia and northeastern Europe.

Her Temperament.

An Atchison girl was not looking well and her mother said to her: "It is your temperament which keeps you feeling badly." The girl walked around in a happy dream; she felt she was different from other people; she had "temperament." Her mother came to her in a day or two with an ugly yellowish brown mixture and said: "Take this surpurr and molasses; you have a bilious temperament." The girl collapsed.—Atchison Globe.

Remedies for Dyspepsia.

Summing up his experiences with 425 cases of dyspepsia, an English physician said that benefit had resulted most frequently from one of two kinds of medicine—namely, alkali and a carminative, such as ginger, an hour or an hour and a half after a meal, or when the discomfort came on, or bismuth carbonate, in doses of half a dram or more before meals.

To Bed for the Sick.

Few people realize that for most diseases the bed and it alone is the greatest, surest, quickest cure the world and ages of science have yet discovered or bestowed. People as a rule, look upon going to bed for sickness as a necessary and unavoidable consequence of sickness, instead of looking upon it as they should, as being the very first and greatest part of the cure of the case.—New York Press.

New Organization

Favors To Cut out Burley Tobacco Crop of 1910.

The Burley Tobacco Union which was formed at Lexington last week declared almost unanimously for a cut-out of the 1911 crop, adopted articles of incorporation without capital stock but fixed the limit of indebtedness at a million dollars, passed a resolution asking Congress to enact a law providing that the growers of tobacco should have the same full information in Government publications as the tobacco trust now has of the farmer's affairs gathered from the report of the Board of Estimates of the National Department of Agriculture; elected a president, secretary and treasurer, and started a movement to get together with other tobacco organizations in the effort to create a fair price and a stable market for the crop.

The officers of the new organization are:

President, June W. Gayle, of Owen county.

Vice President, James F. Middleton, of Shelby county.

Secretary and treasurer, C. F. Chennault, of Madison county.

The articles of incorporation provide for an organization until the tobacco growers have had the opportunity to pass themselves on the matter of their leaders, and the time for that action is fixed at the Saturday preceding the first Monday, in February 11, when the growers of the Burley counties are asked to meet at their respective voting precincts and elect a member of a county Board of Control, these men are to meet at the county seat on the Monday following and elect a county chairman who will be a member of the Board of Directors of the new organization.

TO MEET MARCH 6.

The new board is called to meet in Lexington on the 6th day of March, when the terms of the officers elected last week will expire and the selection of a full set of officers will be left to the directly elected representatives of the people.

Under the terms of the articles of incorporation Lexington is to be the principal place of business of the organization. The control of the tobacco under the terms of the articles of incorporation and by-laws to be adopted is left to the counties and the county officers and the only authority the president and Executive Committee have in the matter of selling the tobacco or will have when the by-laws are adopted, will be to act as agents of the Board of Directors and sell the tobacco at the price fixed by the board.

EXECUTIVE BODY NAMED.

President Gayle announced the appointment of the following Executive Committee, which the Board confirmed:

James F. Middleton, of Shelby.
C. E. Tate, of Lincoln.
A. G. Turnipseed of Adams, Ohio.

J. Lee Bridwell, of Nelson.
J. M. Crain, of Fleming.
A. W. Hamilton, of Montgomery.

Judge T. Scott Mays of Washington.

Congressman J. Campbell Cantrell, president of the American Society of Equity, of Kentucky, was in conference with the leaders of the new movement looking to a getting together of the two organizations to work in harmony for whatever plan was decided upon by the tobacco growers. It is believed that Mr. Cantrell's organization will fall in line with the cut-out plan and boost the movement for the general good of all. President Gayle had already been to the national offices of the organization but little came of the visit.

It was said that an effort would be made to hold a conference immediately with the representatives of the Burley Tobacco Society to see what that organization would be willing to do in the matter of aiding and assisting the movement for a 1911 cut-out.

NO SECRECY IN PROCEEDINGS.

A feature of the two days proceedings that attracted comment was the fact that there were no executive sessions, convention, Advisory Board and even the Executive Committee meetings were open to the representatives of the press for whatever news the reporters might find in these meetings. Much of the discussion was not of such a nature as the newspapers would care to use. But what was said that was news was given freely without any injunction as to secrecy.

There was no consideration given the 1910 pool by the officials. That will be a matter to come up within the next ten days. But a declaration was made in favor of good prices for the 1910 pool and the sentiment was expressed frequently in the convention and in the committee sessions the former independents should hold the balance of the 1910 unsold crop off the market until the 1909 crop was sold, and that this would tend to bring about better prices for that crop. It is believed that a large majority of the poolers of 1909 are in favor of the cut-out plan for 1911 and some action may be taken that will put the matter directly up to them at an early date.

THE PLEDGE FOR A CUT-OUT.

The pledge as adopted follows: "County, Ky., day of 1911.

"I agree not to grow any tobacco personally, by tenant, or agent, nor to permit any tobacco to be grown on any land which I own or control during the year 1911.

"This agreement shall not be binding unless in the judgement of the executive board of both the Burley Tobacco Union and the Burley Tobacco Society a sufficient percent is pledged to insure a successful cut-out of the crop of 1911, and unless said cut-out is officially declared by the Executive Boards of both the Burley Tobacco Union and the Burley Tobacco Society before the 15th day of February, 1911.

"I usually grow acres. (Signed) "

CALL FOR MEETINGS SATURDAY.

The call for the meetings next Saturday follows:

"To the tobacco growers of the Burley District:

"In view of the deplorable state of the Burley tobacco market, and the rainous prices now being offered to the farmer, by the American Tobacco Trust, a convention of Tobacco growers was held in Lexington, Ky., January 5, 1911 and unanimously decided to cut-out the crop for 1911.

"Therefore, as the president of the Burley Tobacco Union, an organization created and established under the laws of the state of Kentucky by said convention, and in order to carry into effect the decision of said convention, a meeting of all tobacco growers is hereby called to be held at the county seats of all tobacco growing counties in the Burley District, on Saturday, January 14, 1911, at 1 o'clock p. m., and as president I urge all tobacco growers to attend these meetings and a cordial invitation is extended to all poolers and independents to participate in these meetings, sign the cut-out pledge and aid us in this great contest.

"JUNE W. GAYLE President.
"Lexington, Ky., Jan. 7, 1911."

REMARKABLE YEAR.

Only 108 Days of 1910 Were Clear With 129 Bringing Rain.

The year just past has been an unusual one as far as weather is concerned, there being several circumstances which mark it out from nearly all preceding years. In the first place it has been a cold year and in the second, a wet year.

The average temperature for the year of 1910 was 53.7 degrees as compared with the normal of 55 degrees. This average makes it the coldest year since 1905, in which year the average fell to 53.5 or two-tenths of one degree lower than 1910.

Most of the months of the year were deficient in temperature except March, which was the warmest ever known, the temperature averaging 54.4 degrees or 11 degrees higher than the normal. May, June, July and August were all below the normal. In November the temperature fell five degrees below normal and in December the deficiency was nearly eight degrees.

The year was a wet one, 1909 and 1910 carrying 7.28 and 9.26 inches excess of precipitation respectively. These two years followed a period of eight years, which were drier than normal, with two unimportant exceptions.

An abnormal condition which occurred was a drought in March, when there was a marked deficiency in rainfall. An opposite abnormality was an excessive rainfall in September, which is usually one of the driest months. The rainfall in this month was 7.92 inches, which was 5.5 inches in excess of the normal.

Starting with the drought in March, which was unusually favorable to work in agricultural pursuits, there was an excess of precipitation from April to September, all these months having an excessive rainfall. This condition was different from that experienced at the same time in the region east of the Allegheny Mountains, where crops were perishing for want of moisture. An example which illustrates this, is the fact that at one time the water supply of the city of Baltimore was almost entirely exhausted.

The usual order of wet and dry seasons was exactly reversed. Ordinarily there is a wet spring and a dry summer and fall, but in 1910 there was a dry spring and an unusually wet summer and fall.

The total precipitation for the year was 51.34 inches, which was an excess above the normal of 9.26 inches. An unusual occurrence was the presence of snow on the ground for 27 consecutive days in December, these being the first 27 days of the month. The total rain fall for the year is the greatest total on record except in 1898 and 1890 when the precipitation was slightly over 60 inches.

The prevailing direction of the wind during the year was southwest with an average hourly velocity of nearly ten miles. The greatest velocity for five minutes was on January 26, when the wind blew 46 miles an hour from the west.

The total of clear days during the year was 108; partially cloudy, 116; and cloudy days numbered 141. During the year there was a total of 129 rainy days. Taking an average from these figures, the percentage of possible sunshine is found to be about 55 per cent.

It is not believed by weather men that Halley's comet is responsible for any of the freakish weather experienced during the year, but the cause must be sought in other sources.

Supreme Court Decides Against Virginia Grants.

By a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States against the Eastern Kentucky Coal Land Corporation and the Kentucky Union Company, the titles to thousands of acres of valuable timber and mineral lands in Eastern Kentucky is affected, and a law passed by the Kentucky Legislature in 1906, establishing titles to vast bodies of land is annulled.

The property in question was claimed by the corporation named under the so called old Virginia land grants. Following the Revolutionary War, the Commonwealth of Virginia made sundry and various grants of land in what later became the State of Kentucky. Many pioneers, not knowing of these grants, settled on the lands in question, and ever since there has been waged a conflict between the claimants of the land.

In 1906 the State of Kentucky passed a law providing that the title to lands on which the taxes had not been paid for three years, and which was not listed for taxation before 1907, should be forfeited to those who had paid the taxes on the land.

Under this act the titles of the two land companies to more than a half million acres of land was declared forfeited. The constitutionality of this act was upheld.

This is a great victory for J. C. C. Mayo and his associates.

Stomach Troubles Cured by Vinol

"I suffered so long from stomach trouble and indigestion, that I lost flesh rapidly — VINOL cured me after everything else had failed. It strengthened my digestive organs — gave me a hearty appetite, and I can eat anything without the slightest distress. I do not believe anything equals VINOL for stomach trouble and indigestion."

W. E. WATERHOUSE, Portland, Me.

Mr. Thos. G. Walker, of Mich., writes, "I suffered for years from stomach trouble. VINOL cured me after everything else had failed."

It is the curative medicinal element of the cod's liver, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL, which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion, and at the same time building up the weakened run-down system.

Try a bottle of VINOL with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

"Noble" Turns Out to be Miller of Jackson.

"Bad Jake" Noble, the Breathitt County, Kentucky, Outlaw, is still at large, but by reason of the arrest at Williamstown, W. Va., of a man supposed to be Noble, Breathitt County nevertheless comes into the possession of another man who was wanted at Jackson, Kentucky, on a charge of murder.

Sheriff Judson, of Breathitt, arrived at Williamstown, W. Va., and identified the man under arrest as E. C. Miller who it is alleged killed John Bush, three years ago and later escaped from the jail at Jackson. He was surrendered to the Kentucky authorities.

Boyle County Man Under Arrest Charged With Murder of Mother.

Clayton Carter was arrested lately on the sensational charge of having murdered his mother, Mrs. Nancy Carter. The victim was fifty years old, and her body was found lying in a pool of blood at her home, four miles south of Danville last night.

An examination showed that a charge of shot at close range had been fired into her left side, producing instant death. For the past year she had been living with her son, and he has always borne a good reputation, and this fact makes his arrest the more sensational. The people of the neighborhood are stirred to a high pitch over the tragedy.

Mr. Buck, whose long and careful course of study, both in this country and abroad, eminently fit-him for the concert stage, never fails to interest and captivate his audience. His remarkably clean technique, the range, depth and variety of his tones, and the ease with which he masters the most difficult passages, convey to his listeners the knowledge that he is an artist of exceptionally rare talent and ability.

Miss Morsches, whose pleasing personality is expressed in the charming style and nature of her work, stands unexcelled as a pianist. Depth of tone, rhythm, clean technique, and the breath of her poetic expression, are the results of many years of untiring efforts and arduous study. Miss Morsches never fails to gain the praise and attention of her audience.

Miss Schneewind, as a reader, is superbly equipped for the interpredelicate touch of humor—all these combine to make her renditions a delight and inspiration to all who

New Ruling of the State Registrar.

To relieve some of the difficulty of undertakers in securing burial or removal permits when the local registrar lives in a rural or remote district, the State Registrar has issued the following rule which will relieve to a great extent the friction encountered in the operation of the new law:

A local registrar may act as sub-registrar to any local registrar of his county or adjacent county and may sign the name of the local registrar of the district in which the death occurred to any burial, removal or transit permit when the undertaker or person acting as such, has presented a complete death certificate and complied with the law and Rules and Regulations of the State Board of Health. Such permits shall constitute authority for burial or removal.

The sub-registrar shall sign his name with the prefix "per" under the name of the local registrar for whom he is acting and shall forward at once, the death certificate to that local registrar, who will be paid the fee as provided by law.

The sub-registrar may charge the sum to twenty-five cents for his services to be paid by the undertaker.

Given under my hand, this sixth day of January, of the year nineteen hundred eleven.

It isn't often that I have faith

"but I am glad to sell Dr. Howstipation and dyspepsia on that plan."

"The Dr. Howard Co., in order fifty cent bottle of their specific for half-price, 25 cents, and although I have sold a lot of it, and guaranteed every package, not one

"I am still selling the specific at how long I shall be able to do so.

Any person who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness,

If the specific does not cure them, they can come right back to my

A Wonderful Discovery Which Practically Eliminates all the Dangers of Death by Catarrh or Diseases Which Originate With Catarrh.

(From the Patterson, N. J., Guardian.)

Ninety-four per cent. of all the diseases with which the human system is afflicted, originate or turn into catarrh; assuring himself of this fact, Dr. Barker gave the matter of catarrh his entire time and study, and after several years of the most thorough research for a remedy would positively cure catarrh in any form, he prepared a prescription which he used in his private practice without a single failure of any case of catarrh he treated. After a considerable amount of persuasion he consented to put the prescription up in convenient form so that sufferers from this terrible disease could purchase the treatment at a nominal cost. The prescription will be found in most any drug store in the United States under the label bloodine. In a recent introductory sale in the city of New York, more than 20,000 bottles were sold in a single week.

I am so confident that bloodine will cure anyone afflicted with catarrh that I will gladly supply it to any patient on a positive guarantee to cure, or money will be as cheerfully refunded as it is taken. If your druggist does not keep bloodine you can be supplied by The Bloodine Laboratories, Boston, Mass., at 50c a bottle, or six bottles for $2.50.

Subscribers will confer a great favor by promptly renewing without making it necessary for us to send out statements. Postage is quite an item of expense where a number of subscribers are involved. There is not much margin of profit in publishing a country weekly paper at only $1.00 a year; in fact most weekly papers are getting $1.50 to $2.00 per year.

We, therefore, will highly appreciate promptness in renewing and remitting for past due subscriptions. The date following your name on the wrapper or on the margin of the first page of your paper indicates the time to which your subscription has been paid. For instance: "Jan 11" means that your subscription is paid to the first day of January, 1911, and "Jan 10" means that you owe for the paper from the first day of January, 1910; and so with any month or date that may follow your name.

Prompt attention to this matter will be highly appreciated.

Look at your date now; and if behind, please remit amount due.

KEEPING CLIPPED PICTURES

How to Make Pretty Book of Embossed Linen in Which to Preserve Them.

Often you will see in the magazines or in old calendars pictures—copies of famous paintings perhaps, or attractive photographs—which you would like to keep. And yet one's walls get so cluttered with pictures, every one of which must be framed at no small expense, that, especially when space is at a premium, one hesitates to add another to the collection.

To keep such pictures where they can be seen always, and yet will not be in the way, make a book of embossed linen—purple is the best shade to show off all kinds of colorings in the pictures. Cut the leaves a little larger than the largest picture you are likely to covet and paste or sew a narrow hem all around. Make covers of thin wood or leather or thick gray cardboard, such as is used for photograph mounts, and hold all together by punching eyelets and stringing ribbon through them. Then paste a picture on each leaf, in the center, using library paste. Of course a leaf can be added each time you see a picture you want to keep, for the embossed linen is very inexpensive and can be bought in large quantities.

To add still further to the attractiveness of the book paste on the outer cover some especially pretty yet unfading picture, or print its title in india ink.

NOVEL BRIDGE WHIST FAVORS

Fools and Devils Are the Latest Things for Card Parties Among the Fashionable.

Fools and devils are the very latest thing in chess and bridge whist favors. There are laughing fools on their backs, kicking up their heels to form a hollow apron that one may drop hairpins into or cigarette ashes, according to one's need. Individual confections may be served in the laps of these recumbent fools or in the boxes that some of them are hugging, and the puffed out foot sugar jars with a head that lifts off are just the thing for ices. "Fools for luck," is an old saw in whist, so they are very appropriate, but not less so than the devils which sprawl upon spade and heart and diamond shaped pin and ash trays. These, as a recent bridge hostess remarked, are "gentle reminders to people that they are all in a game for fun, and they are not to play like devils, nor get into a devil of a temper."

RAPID ARROW FIRE.

The Indian on horseback, with his antediluvian bow and arrow, was as dangerous a man as existed in his day, and he did not fade away before the white man—in the way philosophers and philanthropists believe—and not until the permission cap and something better than the old Brown Bess musket or the flintlock rifle was invented. The prairie Indians were so quick and dextrous in shooting arrows that a single Indian, galloping at full speed, could keep one arrow flying in the air at his enemy all the time. The frontiersmen were too proud of being civilized to go back and learn the bow and arrow, but they must many a time in close places, where the revolver now speaks, have envied the Indian's rapid, repeating, deadly bow-and-arrow fire.—New York Press.

MENDING THE DUSTPAN.

"Sonny," said Rob's mother to the little boy, "I'll give you a dime if you'll mend my dustpan."

Rob looked at the dustpan, which had parted company with its handle, and wished he were a tinsmith. Then he had an idea. He found a lath about a yard long, sand-papered it smooth, and nailed it to the back of the dustpan in such a way that one end rested on the floor, while the other served as a handle. Rob's mother can use her dustpan without stooping now, and likes it much better than before.

HONEST ENOUGH.

"I've been sending out boxes containing fifty cigars, telling recipients to smoke ten and send me the money or return the rest."

"Are the recipients honest?"

"They seem to be. I've been getting forty cigars right along. Some of them even send back forty-nine."

LAST HOURS OF DEAN SWIFT

Friend of Genius Describes the Passing of One of Life's Immortals.

About four months ago he gave me great trouble; he seemed to have a mind to talk to me. In order to try what he would say I told him I came to dine with him, and immediately his housekeeper, Mrs. Ridgeway, said: "Won't you give Mr. Swift a glass of wine, sir?" He shrugged his shoulders, just as he used to do when he had a mind a friend should pass the evening with him. Shrugging his shoulders, your lordship may remember, was as much as to say, "You'll ruin me in wine." I own I was scarce able to bear the sight. Soon after he again endeavored, with a good deal of pain, to find words to speak to me; at last, not being able, after many efforts, he gave a heavy sigh, and, I think, was afterward silent. This puts me in mind of what he said about five days ago. He endeavored several times to speak to his servant (now and then he calls him by his name); at last, not finding words to express what he would be at, after some unsuccess, he said, "I am a fool." Not long ago the servant took up his watch that lay upon the table to see what o'clock it was. He said, "Bring it here;" and when it was brought he looked very attentively at it. Some time ago when the servant was breaking a large stubborn coal he said: "That's stone, you blockhead." —From "An Eighteenth Century Correspondence."

TILLING SOIL WITH DYNAMITE

Odd Way by Which the Explosive is Made to Take the Place of the Plow.

Probably no stranger use for dynamite has ever been devised than its substitution in place of the plow for the tilling of clay land. It is being put to such a use on a considerable experimental scale in Kansas and by a planter of Spartansburg, S. C., and a picture in Popular Mechanics shows how it was done.

The cartridges were planted three feet apart, in rows, and at a depth of four feet. The holes were made by driving crowbars to the desired depth. The dynamite was exploded by a line of men, provided with red-hot irons. The line went rapidly down the field, the explosions following the men in a steady roar that was deafening. The explosions threw clouds of soil 30 feet into the air and covered the men from head to foot with dust and dirt.

MEN IN MAJORITY THERE.

It is gratifying to know that there are more men than women, the excess of them in this country having become so alarming. In Australia there are 2,974,581 males and only 2,305,637 females. And the surprising thing about it is that the males, although in excess, are willing that the women should vote. Or, possibly for that very reason. However, even Australia will not hold its male majority long, as last year the number of females born and coming into the country to add to the population was 1,000 more than the males.

A PASSING ACQUAINTANCE.

"Harry," said the traveling man's wife, "I have a letter from a friend in Lonelyhurst. Have you any customers there?" The drummer said so.

"Then you don't know anybody in that town?"

"Not intimately. Of course I know everybody there by sight."

"Why, how can that be?"

"They all come down to the railway station when the five o'clock afternoon passenger train stops to get the overland express go by." —Youth's Companion.

READY RELIEF.

Physician—Have you any aches or pains this morning?

Patient—Yes, doctor; it hurts me to breathe; in fact, the only trouble now seems to be with my breath.

Physician—All right. I'll give you something that will soon stop that.—Good Housekeeping.

NOT INTERESTED.

"She is not at all like other women."

"No?"

"No, she says she doesn't care a whoop to know whether or not Mrs. Nick Longworth smokes cigarettes."
